

HULME HALL GRAMMAR SCHOOL

SEND BOOKS TO AFRICA

Mr Patterson, Head of Science at Hulme Hall Grammar School, has sent text books, no longer required by the school, to 'Read International', a Charity set up and run by Universities in England to help with the education of children in Africa.

Mr Patterson said "I am thrilled that we can support the learning of students in Tanzania". Hannah Robinson-Schofield, Project Leader from Manchester University will be travelling to the area next August and will be spending 6 weeks checking progress of the work.

She explained to students and staff that the donated books are sorted into complete sets to cover all subjects before being distributed.

PHOTOGRAPH

Mr Patterson and Hannah Robinson-Schofield loading the books into the van, helped by Rima and Hannah (Aged 12), Matthew (Aged 16) and Jamie (Aged 15).

