

Give a gift,
educate a child

We see a world where young global citizens achieve development through the power of education.

Tanzania and Uganda are two of the poorest nations in the world. In Tanzania with a population of 31.8 million only 30% of primary school leavers attend secondary school and the adult illiteracy rate is 29%

Our READ Book Projects redistribute disused educational resources from schools in the UK to schools in Tanzania and Uganda where they can be used in the daily education of thousands of children across the country.

So how can you help??

Buy a gift with extra meaning— choose one of our READ gifts and you will help us give a child an opportunity for an education.

You can buy single gifts, or a variety in combination to tailor the gift package for your lucky recipient!

At READ we think big! By 2012 we aim to have donated nearly 2 million books worth over £20 million to East Africa.

Your gift of books will help us towards this goal.

Books donated by READ are being used in the daily education of at least 240,000 children.

Thousands of other people of all ages are benefiting from access to resources in their public libraries.

Refurbish a library

We have an increasing awareness that it is not only books themselves that deliver educational change, rather what is done with them and the environment in which they are used.

Redecorate

One pot of paint and a paintbrush: £5

Paint for a whole library: £150

Furnish

One desk: £15

One chair: £9

Both!: £24

Furniture for a whole library: £120

A full library refurbishment: £1504

This gift will fully redecorate and refurnish a school library, stock it full with locally sourced books and a selection of books from the UK, and create a haven for learning.

By actively refurbishing school libraries we will provide supportive learning environments for students.

Your gift of paint will help us to make the library a bright and welcoming area to learn in.

Your gift of a desk or chair will provide a space for pupils to work in as and when they need it, and will inspire them to engage in personal study and reading.

The old library was dark, dirty and usually closed. Me and my classmates helped the volunteers to paint the library. The school put on a big celebration when the library was opened. We danced with the UK volunteers. Me and my friends were laughing a lot.

Now there are new books and the library is good to work in. I have somewhere to do my homework before I start my chores in the evening.

Not Just Books

Through our partnerships we use our distribution network to deliver sports, science and stationery equipment to many of the schools we support.

We believe that engaging in extra curricular activities and having fun at school brings another dimension to the learning experience and is vital in helping to develop social skills.

Your gift of sports equipment can raise the spirit of a school, and give pupils another reason to turn up every day.

One football or netball for a school: £10

Both! £20

"We also received two basketballs, footballs and exercise books....the students and teachers are nowadays involved in sports and games during evening hours. The exercise books have been divided among the students from poor families and to orphans. We are very happy to be involved in your READ International project."

Your support will help us in our mission to improve access to education across the world and increase youth participation in the global community. It will provide an opportunity for an education to thousands of individuals in East Africa.
